No. 6777

No. 6777—Many future home builders have difficulty in selecting the type of materials to use for the exterior walls. One look at this house will convince them that stone veneer will give a pleasing and stately appearance. This house has been designed for a large and active family. Note how cleverly the entrance has been arranged to form a small foyer that includes the guest closet and storage space for books and games. The large terrace with the outdoor grille invites outdoor living and being located at the rear of the house assures privacy. The kitchen has been equipped with a modern breakfast bar that extends into the utility room. The stairway marked "dn" leads to a basement that is complete with recreation, laundry, heating, hobby and storage rooms. The foundation is concrete and the house is frame stone veneered.

No. 6782—Gleaming white in the sunshine, this beautiful house with its wide expanse of lawn is exceptionally well planned for the utility of the occupants. The plan shows five rooms, bath with shower and tub, six closets and a porch joining the house to a double garage on the first floor. On the second floor is a fine large room, bath closet and a maid's room with a combination lavatory and closet. The foundation is concrete and the house is frame with painted brick veneer. The roof may be either wood or composition shingles.

No. 6702

No. 6702—This plan was developed with today's trend of outdoor living in mind. Note the outside grille located on the terrace. Examine the floor plan carefully to observe all the features offered. The corner fireplace in the living room is located to permit good furniture grouping and still take advantage of the windows at either end of the room. A well designed kitchen with ample cupboard space and sufficient room for eating is provided. Shingles, vertical siding, and brick veneer have been used to make a pleasing exterior of this attractive design.

No. 6772—An outstanding plan for that small acreage or it may be built on a large city site. The master bedroom shown on the second floor may be built at a later date when the children are maturing and occupying the lower floors with parties and the parents are seeking peace and quiet. The den or office with its private entrance and lavatory meets the needs of those who find it convenient to conduct residential business transactions in privacy. The wide terrace at the rear with the barbecue oven located conveniently near the kitchen entrance will offer possibilities of many outdoor meals.

No. 6752—If you wish to take advantage of your sloping lot, here is a plan that will serve your purpose. The garage has been conveniently located under the kitchen. If your lot slopes to the right, order the reversed plan. The living room has front to rear lighting. Note the many windows across the back of the house. A serving bar is used to separate the kitchen from the dining room.

Glass blocks are used to partition the bath which includes both tub and shower. Concrete blocks have been used for the exterior walls.

No. 6975

Homes described in this book are distinctive homes—homes that express individuality.

No. 6975—This is one of the most beautiful of our ranch type designs, requiring a wide frontage. The first floor plan shows six very lovely rooms, a complete bath, with tub and shower, a lavatory, six closets, a large terrace in the rear and a double garage. The second floor plan shows two large bed rooms, a complete bath and six closets. The large living room and one bed room, two risers down from the main floor line, and having a large bay window and Dutch door out to the terrace in the rear, make this design ideal for a beautiful rear view. The stairs going down from the kitchen lead to a full basement with a large recreation room, heating and laundry rooms. The foundation is stone and the house is frame with stone veneer across the front, and sided exterior for the balance of the house. The roof may be either wood or composition shingles.

No. 6811

No. 6811—Not extremely modern but quite up-to-date is this little white cottage with its five well proportioned rooms and conveniently attached garage. A large storage attic is reached by the stairs going up from the dining room and the stairs going down lead to a full basement where a recreation room, lavatory, laundry, heating and storage rooms are found. The foundation is concrete, the house is frame with a combination of brick veneer and siding for the exterior. The roof may be either wood or composition shingles.

No. 6590

No. 6590—We turned a corner in the road and there, spread out before us with breath-taking charm, was the house of our dreams. The plan of this beautiful home is ideal and shows a central entrance hall leading to the living and dining rooms and the bedroom hall. There are three large bed rooms, two baths, lavatory, seven closets, convenient kitchen and a recreation room, all on the ground floor. The stairs from the hall lead to storage space in the attic. In the basement are heating plant, laundry and storage. The foundation is concrete, the house is frame with the main part covered with irregular siding and the recreation room with shingles for the exterior. The roof may be either wood or composition shingles.

SUGGESTIONS FOR HOME BUILDERS

First of all, know your cost.

Select a plan that will fit your needs now and in the future; and one designed in harmony with your tastes and your location. Employ a contractor who is honest, reliable and knows his business, and not because he gives you the lowest bid.

A good plan and a well defined contract are important. "Early understandings make long friendships."

In building a saleable house, it must be well planned, attractive, practical and well finished.

IMPORTANT: Your house is no better than its foundation and roof.

Foundation footings should be substantial and should rest on solid ground below the frost line, with special attention given to the flue and pier footings.

A solid masonry wall often attracts dampness to the inner side; furring strips, lath and plaster on the interior allows a dead air space and insures dry walls and assists in insulating.

Proper bridging of joist is important.

Use building paper that will expand and contract, if it breaks between boards it is worthless.

Use well seasoned and dry oak flooring and finish lumber; it is difficult to detect dampness in oak lumber.

Oak finish lumber, including flooring, is likely to turn dark in spots if it gets wet before it is filled.

In finishing, care should be taken not to make hammer marks. They show up more plainly after varnishing than before.

Be sure interior plaster is thoroughly dry before applying the finish coat.

Paint should not be put on too thick; use more coats.

Small conveniences mean much to the housekeeper.

Landscaping is important and often neglected.

Choose Your Fireplace

With Full Information

Our top recommendation for year-round satisfaction is the Donley Heatsaver Fireplace, that circulates heat (more than you expect) from outlet grilles that may be placed in the immediate room or other rooms, combining the charm of an open fire with the efficiency of a small furnace . . . Many small homes are adequately heated by the Heatsaver alone. In larger homes it brings comfort during chilly "between" seasons. Burning any solid fuel, it is a godsend when more complicated heating devices fail . . . But if your choice is a simple masonry fireplace, it makes a lot of difference how it is planned and built. The Book of Successful Fireplaces is a standard guide for architects and has brought fireside happiness to thousands of homes . . . Now about outdoor fireplaces — Everyone enjoys hot meals cooked in the open, also a bright evening glow lighting lawn and garden. Outdoor Fireplaces, How to Build Them, tells you how to avoid mistakes and get the most from your barbecue investment.

WHICH BOOKLET SHALL WE SEND?

Check No. 1, enclosing 50 cents (U. S. stamps accepted), 60 cents to Canadian addresses, and you will receive The Book of Successful Fireplaces, 80 pages, more than 300 pictures, plans and diagrams, dealing with both indoor and outdoor fireplaces. But if only interested in Outdoor Fireplaces, send 25 cents and check No. 2.
